

The death of a grandchild is particularly difficult for grandparents as they witness the devastation of their adult child while experiencing their own sense of loss and grief on the death of their grandchild.

This leaflet came about because other Grandparents have shared their experiences; some of the information may be helpful to you at this time.

- Grandparents